GOTV NETWORKS GETS SUPERNATURAL LIVE FROM THE RED CARPET AT THE X-FILES: I WANT TO BELIEVE L.A. PREMIERE

Sherman Oaks, CA – August 7, 2008 – GoTV Networks, Inc., the first and largest mobile media network went supernatural, live from Mann’s Grauman Chinese Theater in Hollywood, CA. GoTV brought the The X Files: I Want to Believe red carpet webcast of the film’s L.A. premier live to online viewers.

The July 23rd webcast by GoTV Productions was hosted by Ellen Fox and included interactive Q&A submitted live by fans watching online. Questions were processed for content and applicability and presented to the stars of the film during red carpet interviews.

The live stream was carried at the film’s promotional website (www.xfiles.com) where highlight clips of the event can be seen at this time. Entertainment Tonight (www.etonline.com) also carried the live stream of the event for their online audience. To date, the combined audience had generated approximately 200,000 minutes of viewership of the red carpet event.

“Being a part of The X-Files legacy is a true testament to GoTV’s production and technology capabilities in mobile and broadband,” said Daniel Tibbets, EVP & Studio Chief of GoTV Networks, Inc. “We are pleased to have been contracted by Fox to add an interactive element to the premier of a such a high profile film.”

The X-Files: I Want To Believe* opened nationwide on Friday, July 25, 2008

About *The X-Files: I Want To Believe

In grand “X-Files” tradition, the storyline was kept under wraps, known only to studio execs and the filmmakers. The supernatural thriller is a stand-alone story in the tradition of the show’s most acclaimed and beloved episodes, and takes the always-complicated relationship between Fox Mulder (David Duchovny) and Dana Scully (Gillian Anderson) in unexpected directions. Mulder continues his unshakable quest for the truth, while

Scully, the passionate and ferociously intelligent physician, remains inextricably tied to Mulder's pursuits. www.xfiles.com
